

Drug Discovery and Pre-Clinical Research Services

Providing customized solutions to support research and science-driven drug development

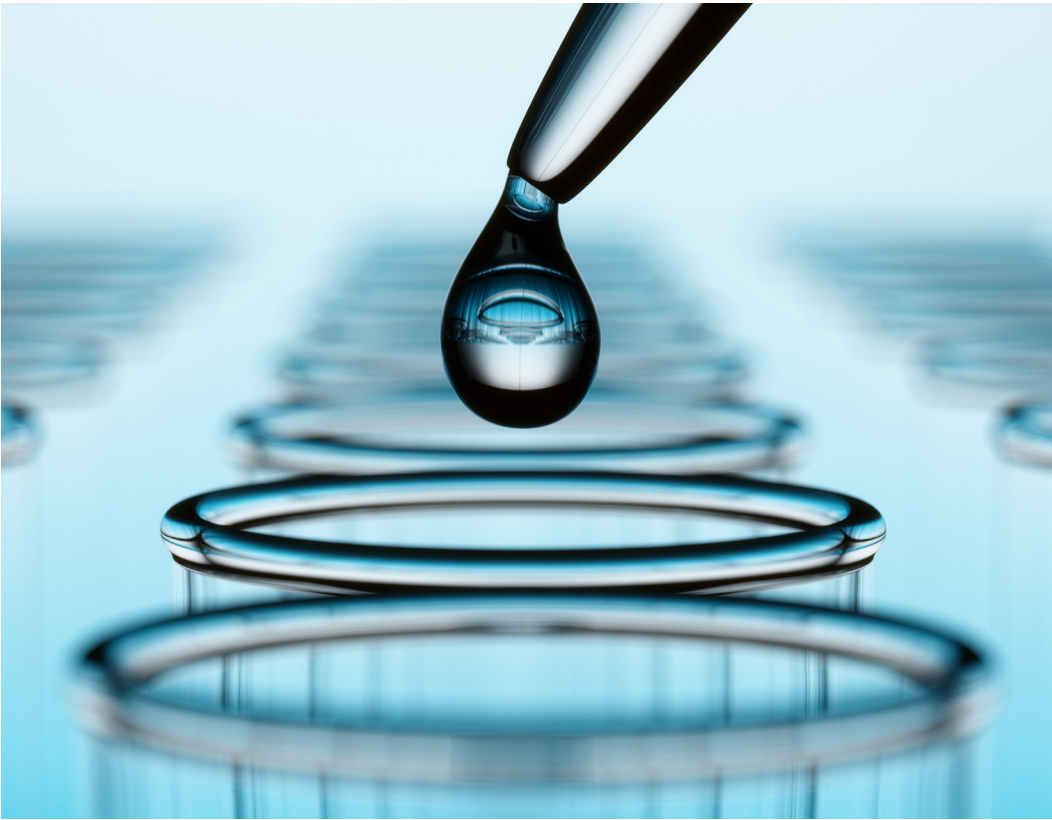

About Us

Genemarkers is a precision health company based in Kalamazoo, Michigan. We are a CLIA-certified, majority woman-owned business accredited by the College of American Pathologists. We have been offering quality testing services for over 15 years.

We offer comprehensive, quality-driven genomics services for discovery and pre-clinical research, to expedite the translation of basic research into drug development.

Our attention to detail, flexible approach and commitment to quality are embedded in our core principles and have earned us a positive reputation in the research service industry. We value each customer relationship and ensure value is derived from each project.

Clinical Trial Support

Genemarkers offers genotyping and gene expression-based biomarker analyses for clinical trials. Analysis of genomic biomarkers is a key component in the development of personalized medications. Our services help identify individuals for clinical trials, expediting recruitment and streamlining clinical trials costs.

Discovery & Translational Research

Genemarkers provides contract research services that support the identification and validation of genomic-based biomarkers. Our services enhance the discovery of new pathways and help expedite decisions regarding compounds in development.
